

Interdisciplinary Workshop for young researchers

Linking language to motor concepts Cognitive correlates of grasping actions

Friday, 10th June 2016

Location:

Seminarraum 1 (ground floor), Austrian Academy of Science, Wohllebengasse 12-14, 1040 Vienna

09:00	Registration
09:20	Welcome Alexandra N. Lenz (Department of German Studies, University of Vienna), Manfred M. Glauninger (Austrian Academy of Science)
09:30-10:30	PLENARY TALK David Peeters (Max Planck Institute for Psycholinguistics, Nijmegen) “The power of pointing in linking language to the world”
10:30-11:00	Coffee Break
11:00-11:30	Stephanie Gross (Austrian Research Institute for Artificial Intelligence) “The importance of gestures and eye gaze in situated communication”
11:30-12:00	Michael Funk (University of Vienna) “Innate Knowledge and Instrumentally Mediated Language in Musical Gestures – A Philosophical Epistemology of Body-Actions”
12:00-12:30	Jakob Steixner (University of Vienna) “The Syntax of categorization and function assignment: Is SHAPE special?”
12:30-14:00	Lunch break
14:00-14:30	Timo Ahlers, Juliane Fink (University of Vienna) “Motor-concept variation in the German verbs anfassen , angreifen and anlangen ”
14:30-15:30	PLENARY TALK Markus Vincze (Technical University of Vienna) “Human and Robot Object Grasping”
15:30	Wine Reception and Snacks

The workshop is for free. Guests are welcome! - Please register, if you would like to attend the workshop as a guest (if you have not done so yet) by sending an e-mail to: juliane.fink@univie.ac.at and timo.ahlers@univie.ac.at.