

Jan Plamper

(Goldsmiths, University of London)

Introducing the History of Emotions: Genealogy, Trends, Concepts

CENTER FOR EASTERN MEDITERRANEAN STUDIES, CEU

PUBLIC LECTURE

Nov 4

Mon

17:30

*Auditorium
Quellenstrasse
51, Vienna*
Streaming:
*Tiered room
Nádor u. 15,
Budapest*

In this talk, Professor Plamper will revisit what he considers the history of the history of emotions and introduce some of the major trends. He will introduce key concepts and their limitations and in the end speculate where this booming subfield of the historical discipline might go in the future.

Jan Plamper is Professor of History at Goldsmiths, University of London. He edits a Cambridge UP Element series on “Histories of Emotions and the Senses” and is the author of “The History of Emotions: An Introduction” (Oxford UP, 2015). He has also published “Das neue Wir. Warum Migration dazugehört: Eine andere Geschichte der Deutschen” (S. Fischer, 2019) and “The Stalin Cult: A Study in the Alchemy of Power” (Yale UP, 2012).

CENTER FOR EASTERN
MEDITERRANEAN STUDIES

