

Konfuzius-Institut
an der Universität Wien
维也纳大学孔子学院

We gladly invite everyone to

Opening ceremony

The Year of the Rabbit 9th June 2011

To celebrate the opening ceremony for the new office of the Confucius Institute at the University of Vienna we gladly invite everyone. As part of this opening, we present the photo exhibition „The Year of the Rabbit“.

According to an old legend, Buddha called all the animals to a great celebration to him. However, only 12 animals followed up to its reputation: rat, ox, tiger, rabbit, dragon, snake, horse, goat, monkey, rooster, dog and pig. To honor them, he dedicated each of these animals a year.

Since early February, the new Chinese year has begun with the zodiac sign rabbit. The photo exhibition presents Chinese rabbit motifs in the traditional sense as well as a modern design object.

Time:

Start: 10:15 a.m.

Location:

Konfuzius-Institut an der Universität Wien
Universitätscampus
Alserstraße 4, Hof 1, Eing. 1.3
A-1090 Wien

With the kind assistance and provided by the Confucius Institute at the University of Hamburg

Please contact us in advance

Telephone 01 4277 438-51,

Monday to Friday 9:30a.m.-12:30 p.m.

or via email: konzufuzius-institut@univie.ac.at

Die erste Adresse für
Freunde der chinesischen Sprache und Kultur!

www.konzufuzius-institut.at universität wien